SENIORS DEFEAT "RATS" IN A WELL FOUGHT GAME

Hackworth Makes Touchdown

FINAL SCORE 6-0

Drake Field, Feb. 11th.—Some game? Yes. Almost looked like a varsity exhibition with the varsity victorious as usual. Nice and close with a little scoring which makes it lots nicer than the old Yardage games such as we have had in the past.

Now I haven't written a football game in so long that I am very much out of practice and it really takes practice to do anything but I just want to insist that I was very well pleased with the way things went and if I seem to be prejudiced you must understand the reason.

Hackworth, that raging plunging 49 centimeter fullback seemed to be able to find a hole to crawl thru without much trouble and true to his name he backed with all his might and got thru in the first quarter. Lucky he did, too, because the rats certainly closed up the holes in the next quarter and there wasn't much more chance to get thru and score.

I can give you a fairly accurate play by play description of this game and I believe I will do so.

The game started with a rush by the ball being punted to Saunders who received the ball on the 5 yard line and returned it a ways. Parker then tried to go around right end but Adams was on the job and he stopped. He went about 2 yards over right tackle, made no gain around right end and punts 35 yards to Wagner who returned the ball 4 yards. The ball was fumbled on the next play but the Seniors recovered. Robinson then goes around right end for 3 yards. Hackworth over center for 9 yards and a fumble loses 7 yards. Hackworth recovers 2 yards over left tackle, the ball is punted 35 yards, fumbled and the Seniors recovered. This was the beginning of the touchdown as the ball was only about 7 yards from the goal line. Hackworth rams over left tackle for 2 yards, goes over center for 2 and then over right tackle for 2 and then over center for the last yard and the Seniors had a touchdown. The kick failed and the score was 6-0.

There was much rejoicing then around the stands with quite a lot of noise but a noticeable lack of concerted rooting, the rooters confining themselves to individual stuff. There was also a noticeable lack of spectacular runs which, however, has characterized the entire season of football.

JUNIORS DEFEAT SOPHOMORES FINAL SCORE 7-0

Drake Field, Saturday.—In a game characterized by good punting and well fought from start to finish, the Junior team defeated the Sophs in the preliminary championship contest and eliminated them leaving the final contestants as the Seniors and Juniors with the game scheduled for the 22nd. Auburn's big day.

It was a good game, I saw most of it except when the crowd got too hilarious and I just didn't have the heart to see thru them so I guessed at the plays and hit it close too.

However, the Sophs kicked 45 yds. to the Juniors and Britnell caught the ball, was tackled and injured. Had to be replaced by Jemison. The Juniors failed to make first down, the Sophs fumble. Juniors recover and buck the ball about 10 yards and with Harris 25 yards around left end the full back goes over center for the touchdown and goal is kicked making the score 7-0.

There were immediately about seven thousand (much less than more) raving lunatics around that part of the field and numerous sad faced corporals (that's about the only way I knew they were sophs), but their spirits didn't lag long and they were soon rooting and begging hard for their team to score.

There was much fumbling and it seemed as if the opponent nearly always got the ball. The Sophs fought a stiff game and time after time threatened the Juniors goal line only to be stopped and held for downs and the Juniors would immediately punt out of danger.

There was one time that the game seemed to be tied but the Juniors recovered and held. A bad punt only about 15 yards gave the Sophs the ball close in and Donahue very nearly broke loose for a touchdown but they stopped him before he got across.

Then again in the last quarter, Kolb went through the line for 55 yards for a touchdown, but the play was called offside and the score didn't count. It was a mighty pretty run tho' whether it counted or not, because he shook off about five men who attempted to tackle him.

There were a great number of forward passes tried near the end of the game, which if they had worked would have allowed the Sophs to score but McLeomore seemed to be especially expert in breaking them up because he stopped very nearly every one.

Donahue made a pretty 30 yard run around L. E. one time but the pretty gain was lost by a fumble a few minutes later and the Juniors

AUBURN DEFEATS L.S.U

On Thursday, Feb. 10, our Basketball team woke up and defeated L. S. U. after a very bloody encounter. L. S. U. who had previously beaten Alabama was trodden in the dust beneath the mighty feet of the Auburnites.

A few days before this game a visitor talking to one of the cadets had said "I understand that Auburn boasts of a Basketball team." "No," replied the student, "we never boast of it." However after such an encounter as that on Thursday we may fairly swell up and burst with pride.

Students came far and wide to view the game, some beating classes and others "riding Doc," and it was worth the while to get a few demerits to see such good work. As we all must know the final score was 24 to 23 in favor of the best side—Auburn.

The whole college may well give thanks to our lads with skinned knees and scratched faces, who have so faithfully defended the Orange and Blue.

The value of a large circle of college friends and acquaintances cannot be overestimated. They are what make college life worth the while; from them, if of the right kind, we can get much knowledge that we will never obtain from any text-book. The very fact that you are an Auburn man will mean much when out in the world, but an Auburn man going into the world tied to this old spot by remembrances of scores of old associates and friends is worth more to the world and to the college than the man who goes out with his book-sense alone.

Common sense tells us that we should strive to cultivate the respect and friendship of those with whom we daily come in contact. Not only this but it should be our desire to know as many of the fellows as possible. We are thus enabled to get the viewpoint of the other man, to realize that he has his own views, his own opinions, and that he has his own special problems to solve.

How many fellows are there in college who appear "stuck-up" until chance throws us into their path and we discover their true nature.

There's just lots of good floating around among our associates—useful, necessary knowledge at that—its free and the supply is unlimited.

AUBURN, ALA., FEB. 18, 1916.

The value of a large circle of college friends and acquaintances cannot be overestimated. They are what make college life worth the while; from them, if of the right kind, we can get much knowledge that we will never obtain from any text-book. The very fact that you are an Auburn man will mean much when out in the world, but an Auburn man going into the world tied to this old spot by remembrances of scores of old associates and friends is worth more to the world and to the college than the man who goes out with his book-sense alone.

Common sense tells us that we should strive to cultivate the respect and friendship of those with whom we daily come in contact. Not only this but it should be our desire to know as many of the fellows as possible. We are thus enabled to get the viewpoint of the other man, to realize that he has his own views, his own opinions, and that he has his own special problems to solve.

How many fellows are there in college who appear "stuck-up" until chance throws us into their path and we discover their true nature.

There's just lots of good floating around among our associates—useful, necessary knowledge at that—its free and the supply is unlimited.

SENIORS DEFEAT "RATS" IN A WELL FOUGHT GAME.

The remainder of the game went on, both teams fighting their hardest. A number of penalties were imposed for holding, offside, etc., but this was only to be expected on a team with as little football experience as the class teams have.

The rats threatened the Seniors goal line two or three times but the Seniors showed the varsity spirit and tightened up at the proper instant and they failed to score.

"Susie" refused to commit himself in saying it was a relief to him to have the rats defeated because—well, you've no doubt heard the thunder before. He looked pleased anyway and then the class meeting wiped the smile off again but why should they think evil thoughts of the poor Seniors. We haven't done anything so far.

The lineup was as follows:

Seniors		Freshmen
Wagner	C.	Easter
Roberts	L. T.	Alsbrook
Crosby	R. T.	Batson
Sterchi-Howsley	L. G.	Saunders
Crawford	R. G.	Stalling

recovered. Then again, the Sophs punted 25 yards and the ball was touched by a Junior, a Soph recovered it and with a pretty lateral pass 15 yards more was gained and it looked as if the Sophs would score, but no gain around left end, 2 yards over right tackle, and two more over right tackle and a forward pass broken up lost the ball to the Juniors who punted the ball out of danger.

There was quite a lot of concerted rooting at this game which was quite different from that of the Senior-Freshman game which had no concerted rooting at all, but there was a little more profanity used than was absolutely necessary for the winning of the game and the ladies present no doubt did not feel quite as much at ease as they might have, and it is up to us Auburn men to see that our guests are treated with courtesy.

MEETING OF V. M. A. OF A. P. I. TUESDAY, FEB. 8, 1946.

No program, Banquet committee reported very promising outlook for the banquet to be held Friday night, Feb. 18th in Smith Dining Hall.

Dr Geo. R. White, lecturer on restraint of animals is expected, and many other prominent Veterinarians have been invited as well as a number of Auburn Alumni.

The Veterinary Department looks forward each year to Dr. White's visit as they all get something new from his lectures and demonstrations. He makes new friends every year here. We need not comment on his ability as the Veterinary Journal has said all there was to say about him in its last issue. We might say in passing that Dr. White touches on surgery once in a while and as a consequence of some of his previous lectures and demonstrations he may get a piece of capon at the banquet.

After talking over the glowing prospect of the banquet, officers were elected as follows: E. D. King, Jr., President and L. J. Hargett, Vice-President.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES.

On last Friday night, Dr. Thomas gave a talk on Api-Culture. This was the first time the club had been fortunate to hear him.

Dr. Thomas is connected with the department of Entomology here at Auburn. He is very much interested in bee culture in the South and especially in Alabama. He gave some statistics on the southern states in regard to bee culture.

From thirty-seven to forty-seven per cent of all the honey produced in the United States is produced in what is known as the seven southern states. Alabama ranks fourth.

It is a popular idea throughout the South and especially in Alabama that Api-Culture is not a profitable business. This idea has grown out of ignorance in regard to bees. There are very few people in this State who know any thing about the life, habits and care of bees. Some have attempted to go into it for a business without any knowledge of the care and precautions necessary for success and the result is no more than could be expected, they fail. By a little extra attention and study Dr. Thomas says that any average farmer can make bee keeping profitable.
R. E. Cammack.

JUST SPLENDID.

It was nice here this summer,
The campus was fresh and green,
Cool nights to sleep
And lie and dream.
Sit at an open window,
Or any where to rest,
And you would not be
Eat up by a pest.
Go to bed at night
And lie and snooze,
And save your pants
And save your shoes.

Uncle Bill, That's All.
Uncle Bill, that's all, has posted on the wall in his room in No. 1. Barracks:

"Come clean."
"A rude young man is not thought very much of by any one."
"When a boy is nice and polite it speaks well for his mother."
"It costs nothing to be a gentleman."

CADET'S SOLILIQUEY

To be or not to be—that is the question;
Whether it were better to strive for honors collegiate
Or to pass in and pass out merely a graduate.
Whether it is nobler in the cadet to suffer
The cuts and snubs of outrageous fortune
Or strive against opponents with effort untiring,
And, after long pursuit, when team meets team,
Orator meets audience, experience that climax
Of self-conscious adulation: "Ah! there he is."
To shine—to be popular—'tis a consummation
Devoutly to be wished! But, perchance, to fail—
Ay, there's the rub.
Thus doubt and apprehension do make cowards of us all,
And thus the native hue of attainment is
Sicklied o'er with the pale cast of failure.

Whether it is nobler in the cadet to suffer

The cuts and snubs of outrageous fortune

Or strive against opponents with effort untiring,

And, after long pursuit, when team meets team,

Orator meets audience, experience that climax

Of self-conscious adulation: "Ah! there he is."

To shine—to be popular—'tis a consummation

Devoutly to be wished! But, perchance, to fail—

Ay, there's the rub.

Thus doubt and apprehension do make cowards of us all,

And thus the native hue of attainment is

Sicklied o'er with the pale cast of failure.

SUMMER INSTRUCTION CAMP FOR COLLEGE STUDENTS

While the poets have not begun to herald the approach of spring and newspapers have not begun printing beautiful ads for summer resorts, still we are all looking forward to discarding the duties of college life in June, and are even now laying our plans for the summer vacation. One of the most enjoyable camps for the average student is the Summer Camp for College Men which is held each year under the auspices of the United States Government. A few Auburn men have attended these camps in the past and they were unanimous in their praise of the camps for furnishing recreation, instruction, and enjoyment.

So let us now begin to plan to attend the camp which is to be held at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., and which will open July 5th. All students, at least five feet four inches in height, and between the ages of 18 and 30, in universities, colleges, and the graduating classes of high schools and other schools, rated as such, will be admitted.

There are many advantages from attending such a camp. The healthy surroundings of Fort Oglethorpe make it an ideal place for an outing. The military exercises are excellent and while exactness is required in the execution of these duties, still the student is left with plenty of time for recreation. The fact that the camp is near Chattanooga, Tenn will appeal to a number of boys as both electric and steam railway service connect the camp with this city. There is in addition a sense of pride in feeling that one is preparing himself for the call of his country should he be needed and this spirit of patriotism is instilled.

From bulletin No. 23, U. S. A. we clip the following paragraphs concerning the purposes and advantages of the camp.

In permitting the attendance of young men at camps for troops of the Regular Army, the object is to give them opportunity for a short course in military training, the better to fit them to discharge their military duty should their country ever stand in need of their services. Summer is selected to enable them to attend with the least inconvenience and greatest instructional advantage.

In addition to the patriotic motive there are the physical benefits to be derived from the active healthful, outdoor life of a military camp. The broadening influences of intimate association with the life of the Regular Army, the opportunity for athletic contests, and the novelty of the experience itself will contribute variety and interest in their camp experience.

The young man is certain to increase his business efficiency and hence his economic value through the habits thus acquired of discipline, obedience, self-control, order, and command, and the study of organization and administration as exemplified in first-class modern armies.

The benefit of permitting the attendance of these young men is that thereby will be fostered a patriotic spirit, without which a nation soon loses its virility and falls into decay and spread among the citizens of the country some knowledge of military history, military policy, and military needs, all necessary to the complete education of a well-equipped citizen in order that he may himself form just and true opinions on military topics.

As a military asset young men attending these camps become of value, since they increase the military reserve of the United States by instructing a class of men from which in time of national emergency would probably be drawn a large proportion of the volunteer commissioned officers, upon whose judgment and training at such a time the safety and even the lives of many of their fellow countrymen will largely depend.

The ultimate object sought is not military aggrandizement, but to make provision, in some degree, to meet a vital need confronting us as a peaceful and unmilitary people, to the end that peace and prosperity may be preserved through the only safe precaution, viz., preparation and equipment to resist any effort to break such peace.

It seems as though the joke was on the Faculty and Freshmen last Friday night from the way they were running around the streets looking for THAT inspection. Ha. Ha. Ha.

A FORLORN HOPE

It was a recruit's first appearance at the rifle range. The range-officer tried him first at five hundred yards, and the recruit could not come within a mile of the target. Next the officer tried him at three hundred yards, then at two hundred yards, and finally at one hundred yards. His last shot was even worse than his first. The officer looked at him with disgust and losing his temper, shouted the command in his face:

"Attention! Fix bayonet! Charge the target! It's your only chance!"—Sacred Heart Review.

THE CRISIS IN THE BARBER SHOP

The barber to the right of me was hocking for the Kaiser,
The barber to the left of me was hacking for the Czar,
A gentleman from Greece was shearing of my fleece,
While very near a swart Italian stropped his simitar.

And when presently discussion, polygot and fervid,
On political conditions burst about my chair,

I left the place unshaven—I hope I'm not a craven,
But I sort of like to wear a head beneath my hair!
